AUTHOR INDEX

ALLISON R. S. The second world war 1939-45: An RNVR medical officer's view 102

BERRY C. B. Around the world on Challenger 151

BRAYLEY N. F. A case of spontaneous rupture of the cervical oesophagus: a reminder 30

CRITCHLOW M. A. A two year exchange appointment with the Federal German Navy 95

DAVIES J. W. Environment in motion Part 11 5

DEWAR E. P. Malignant melanoma presenting as a case of adult intussusception 121

EDMONDSTONE W. M. Lung abscess 89

EDMONDSTONE W. M. Investigation of the abnormal chest radiograph 125

EVANS G. L. Stress fractures at Commando Training Centre Royal Marines Lympstone — a retospective survey (September 1979-October 1981) 77

FRANCIS T. J. R. A study of the immediate effects of welding fume on pulmonary function 136

GLOVER S. D. Malignant melanoma presenting as a case of adult intussusception 121

GUILD W. J. F. Memorabilia 171

GURD D. P. Where the cider apples grow 39

GURD D. P. Australia and around the world 159

HAYDON J. R. Occupational health problems and their solution 12

HOLLAND J. V. Unusual movements of a normal tongue 37

HOUSTON A. S. Bone scintigraphy as an investigative aid for dysbaric osteonecrosis in divers 61

JARVIS L. J. Adult coeliac disease — a treatable cause of chronic ill health 133

LEICESTER R. J. Spontaneous intraperitoneal rupture of pyonephrosis 34

MACLEOD M. A. Bone scintigraphy as an investigative aid for dysbaric osteonecrosis in divers 61

McEWAN A. J. B. Bone scintigraphy as an investigative aid for dysbaric osteonecrosis in divers 61

McNICOLL W. D. Measurement of Eustachian tube function using electro-acoustic techniques 69

MUIR C. A. Drug treatment of motion illness 145

OLIVER T. P. 67 years ago — The Journal of the Royal Naval Medical Service, Vol 1, No. 1 98

OLIVER T. P. 67 years ago — The Journal of the Royal Naval Medical Service, Vol 1 167

PEARSON R. R. Bone scintigraphy as an investigative aid for dysbaric osteonecrosis in divers 61

RAMAGE J. K. Bullet and missile wounds in Northern Ireland 82

REED F. Rehabilitation after injury 16

WILKES F. R. A case of spontaneous rupture of the cervical oesophagus: a reminder 30

WILLIAMS J. G. Adult coeliac disease — a treatable cause of chronic ill health 133

WILLIAMS M. E. The nursing process — an individual approach to nursing care 156

TITLE INDEX

Abstracts 116

Australia and around the world 159

Bone scintigraphy as an investigative aid for dysbaric osteonecrosis in divers 61

Book Reviews 48, 68, 76, 94, 109, 124, 155, 158, 166

Bullet and missile wounds in Northern Ireland 82

Challenger. Around the world on 151

Chest radiograph. Investigation of the abnormal 125

Coeliac disease — A treatable cause of chronic ill health. Adult 133

Editorials 3, 59, 119

Eustachian tube dysfunction: the site of the nasal septal deformity. Uncomplicated 23

Eustachian tube function using electro-acoustic techniques. Measurement of 69

Federal German Navy. A two year exchange appointment with the 95

Letters to the Editor 46, 110, 173

Melanoma presenting as a case of adult intussusception. Malignant 121

Memorabilia 171

Motion, Part II. Environment in 5

Motion illness. Drug treatment of 145

Nursing process. The 156

Occupational health problems and their solution 12

Publications by RN Medical and dental officers 115

Oesophagus: a reminder. A case of spontaneous rupture of the cervical 30

Pyonephrosis. Spontaneous intraperitoneal rupture of 34

Rehabilitation after injury 16

Second world war 1939-45: An RNVR medical officer's view. The 102

Service News 50, 111, 178

Sixty-seven years ago — The Journal of the Royal Naval Medical Service Vol 1 ..... 98, 167

Stress fractures at Commando Training Centre Royal Marines, Lympstone — A retrospective survey (September 1979-October 1981) 77

Symposium of medicine. Short reports and summaries from Fourth 20

Tongue. Unusual movements of a normal 37

Welding fume on pulmonary function. A study of the immediate effects of 136

Where the cider apples grow 39